Your Question: LinkedIn,

This is a matter of principle. One Support Ticket Begets Another. Each Support Ticket Is Filed onto my internet domains. In overview, it shows an extreme bias that I am being singled out because of your rather insulting policies.

Take for instance,

S.I.K.H. - Sharing In Kind Here

Applies a standard that now I have shared IN KIND with you -- a respectful reply or answer IN KIND would be polite. No answer is obviously not polite. Whatever you choose to do from this point is obviously taken notice of.

IN KIND refers to what basic details you now have of me is someway requested back IN KIND RETURN. And always there is a polite way for you to say "No Thanks".

This reply to you is desired in a way of Sharing In Kind Here S.I.K.H.. Please be polite in a kind reply. by In the Mindway September 17, 2005
